ACADEMIC REPORT:

Home Nursing:

The girls are taking a very fine course in "home nursing" this quarter. A hospital bed, acquired through Donable Property, has been set up in our home making department and it is interesting to see these girls make the bed with a patient in it and through home made equipment care for an invalid, properly. One girl who took this course a year ago secured a job as nurse's aide without any question.

Commercial Department:

All the girls are interested in the typing and office practice courses. We have a girl working at Western Life who received all of her commercial training at this school. She started out with a salary of $190 per month and we have had very good reports of her ability and work.

Science and Mathematics:

Very excellent work is being carried out in the science and mathematics classes.

English and Literature:

It has been customary, in the past, to teach English and literature as one course. This year we have an instructor for English and one for literature. We hope to accomplish more in each subject and so far it is working out very well. Spelling, grammar, choral reading, reading for fun and for information are all being stressed.

Beauty Culture or Better Grooming:

Each group will have one quarters training in care of their hair, nails, and general appearance. Suitable styles in keeping with each girls physical make-up and personality are discussed and considered.

Music:

Choral and instrumental music has a very important place in our curriculum. Our chorus and orchestra are busy working on a program to present October 11 for the judges, who will be at our school for dinner at 12:30 p.m.

We have discovered some fine talent among our new girls, that we hope to develop during their stay at the school.

RELIGIOUS PROGRAM:

Mass for Catholic girls is held at eight a.m. every Sunday. The Rt. Rev. Msgr. D. B. Harrington and altar boy officiating.

Protestant services are at 2:30 p.m. each Sunday. The ministers are appointed by the Ministereal Association.

1st Sunday	Rev. Melvin J. Veland - Assembly of God Church
2nd Sunday	Rev. H. M. Waldron - Chaplin from Fort Harrison
3rd Sunday	Rev. John W. Bartram - Methodist Church
4th Sunday	Rev. Nels Norbec, St. John's Lutheran Church
5th Sunday	Morman Elders

During the summer religious films were shown each Sunday and the girls conducted the services.

Rev. Ralph Norman meets with the Lutheran girls each Monday at 4:30 p.m. for religious instructions.

MEANUS:

Children's appetites depend on understanding and imagination.

According to Miss Jeanee Calabiese, supervising Home Economics N.Y.C. Department of Welfare, "It is a well proven fact that children are not gourmets, but menu variety and imaginative preparation, when geared to their level, will definitely increase their interest in meals."

We are making menus for a week at a time. Enclosed in this report is the menu for the week of September 28 to October 4. The kitchen supervisors are instructed to use left overs in place of the regularly suggested items whenever possible. We do not waste food ever.

The magazine, "Institutions," a magazine for mass feeding, is the source of many interesting recepies which are economical and seasonal. This week we are trying a pumpkin cake receipe. We tie in our home economics course with our cottage cooking and sewing, thus applying the knowledge as it is acquired.

COTTAGE SUPERVISOR REPORT:

Following is a list of clothing furnished to each girl for each year she lives at the school.

4	slips	one per quarter	4	combs
4	bras	one per quarter	2	toothbrushes
6	panties		4	dresses
4	pair of shoes		1	winter coat
12	pair of anklets		1	jacket
1	garter belt or girdle		1	pair of overshoes
2	sanitary belts

This does not include toothpaste, soap, kotex, shampoo and first aid materials.

Requisitions are made out by girls and approved by the head housemother the first Monday of each quarter.

During this quarter the following have been issued.

38	slips	35	pair of shoes
70	panties	51	jackets)
277	pair of anklets	52	coats) for all winter
52	bras	52	pair of overshoes)

We feel that the parents should be financially able to furnish the girls with a minimum amount of clothing. The judges should be furnished with a list of apparel that each girl should have when she enters the school. If the parents are not able, at the time of her commitment, the welfare or some agency should be responsible for seeing that the girl comes in with needed clothing.

WORK PLACEMENTS:

One of our former students is employed in the laundry at St. Peter's hospital. She has worked all summer and has done very well. She has deposited one hundred dollars in her account at the school, after buying her clothes and other necessities.

A girl who has been very unsettled at the school is now on work placement with a family in Helena Valley. She is helping in the home while the wife recovers from a serious operation.

One hundred and ten dollars was deposited to a girls account when she returned from work placement at a motel in Lincoln, Montana. She did an excellent job this summer and goes occasionally for a week end.

The girl that is working at Western Life spent the summer working at a motel in Helena and continued with the music she became interested in while attending this school.

POSTER HOME PLACEMENTS:

One of our younger girls, Carol Marron, has been placed in a very satisfactory home in Billings.

Another girl has found a good family home in Helena and is attending school.
